5. Reports from the Presidents

   A. Community College of Rhode Island - Updates and issues affecting local and national higher education, and notification regarding the College’s decision not to charge certain student fees during the Fall Semester 2020.
Vice President Rosemary Costigan presented on behalf of President Hughes. She reported that CCRI has waived certain student fees for the Fall 2020 semester. As the majority of Fall 2020 courses will be delivered remotely at CCRI, a “Faculty Fall Readiness Initiative” was developed. Over 219 full-time and 193 part-time faculty participated in professional development training sessions to improve preparedness of faculty to deliver courses remotely.

Vice President Costigan noted that, as of Monday, August 3, CCRI had enrolled nearly 10,000 students for the Fall 2020 semester, down by 23% as compared to the same day last year. CCRI estimates that enrollment will be off compared to last year by 10-20%. Efforts to support enrollment include outreach (extensive advertising and text messaging to students), engagement (including drop-in virtual advising and enhanced learning self-service options), and financial support (increased scholarship funding). The school continues to monitor its financial position and awaits information on federal funding and state appropriations.

In response to Council inquiry, Vice President Enright noted that for every 10% reduction in enrollment, there is a loss of $6 million in annual revenue.

CCRI’s report included a link to the College’s Virtual Town Hall which was held the previous week. Over 450 faculty and staff members joined the nearly two-hour Virtual Town Hall to hear an update on the Fall 2020 Campus Plan, including academic affairs, enrollment and the financial status of the college.

B. Rhode Island College- Updates and issues affecting local and national higher education, and notification regarding the College’s decision not to charge certain student fees during the Fall Semester 2020.

President Sánchez presented a PowerPoint outlining Fall 2020 reopening plans, student enrollment, budget overview including fees and financial aid, and the start of construction at the Horace Mann building.

As noted in President Sánchez’ presentation, classes will resume on August 31st, with most classes offered online (synchronous, asynchronous, or hybrid). The residential community will be restricted to 45% occupancy. There will be limited opportunities for student-athletes and in accordance with health and safety protocols.

President Sánchez outlined the ten fundamental elements for a healthy campus community at RIC including communication and signage emphasizing social distancing, good hygiene and required face coverings. Other elements include physical space alterations, increased cleaning and disinfecting, required visual-verbal screening, testing protocol, contact tracing, and supportive quarantine and isolation.

The President noted that overall enrollment for Fall 2020 is down 12.9% compared to this time last year (undergraduate enrollment is down 13.5%, graduate enrollment is down 9.5%).
Turning to the budget, President Sánchez itemized steps taken to reduce RIC’s operating budget by 14%. Reduction in certain student fees and aid adjustments were noted.

President Sánchez celebrated the start of work at the Horace Mann building, with occupancy scheduled for early spring 2022.

Dennis Duffy joined the meeting via Zoom at 5:30 p.m.

6. Discussion Item

A. Discussion regarding proposed amendments to the Council’s Sexual Harassment and Sexual Violence Policy n.k.a. the Title IX Sexual Harassment Policy and Procedures, and the Nondiscrimination Policy and Complaint Procedures.

Acting Commissioner and General Council Ronald Cavallaro introduced Kristine Zayko, attorney with Husch Blackwell, who has been working with colleges and universities throughout the country, including CCRI, RIC and URI, to deal with the new Title IX regulations that were issued by the Department of Education, to help us work through proposed amendments to the Council’s existing sexual harassment and sexual violence policies. He explained that in May of this year, the U.S. Department of Education issued new (final) regulations on campus sexual assault under Title IX, the federal law that prohibits sex discrimination at federally funded institutions. Colleges and universities are required to comply with these regulations by August 14, 2020, although a lawsuit has been filed seeking an injunction to delay/extend this deadline due to issues including the short time period given for implementation and the difficulty involved with implementation due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Acting Commissioner Cavallaro noted that these regulations, which have the force of law, replace the guidance that was issued during the Obama administration and remove and/or modify many of the procedural requirements that were mandated under the prior “Dear Colleague Letters” issued in 2011 and 2014 (which were used in the drafting of the Council’s current policy). These new regulations require schools to provide either or both parties a trained advisor upon request, and allow these advisors to cross-examine parties and witnesses involved. The “preponderance of evidence” standard of proof is no longer mandated, and Title IX officials at institutions now have the option to use either a “preponderance of evidence” standard or a “clear and convincing” standard, which is a higher burden of proof. The regulations also indicate that colleges are only obligated to respond to reports of sexual harassment that occurred off-campus if the location is in use by an officially recognized student or institution organization.

Acting Commissioner Cavallaro stated that these new regulatory changes and requirements only apply to campus sexual assault under Title IX, so the Council’s current policy has now been split into two separate policies. One policy is Title IX specific, and the other policy addresses all other forms of sex-based discrimination, including sex-based Harassment that does not rise to the level of Sexual Harassment as defined in the Title IX Sexual Harassment Policy.

In addition, these proposed amendments include the new regulatory requirements and also address issues regarding the practical application of the Council’s current policy that have been identified by the Title IX officers and student affairs staff at the colleges. The proposed amendments were drafted by Attorney Zayko, with the assistance of a team assembled by RIOPC including the Title IX officers, Student Affairs, Human Resources, and Finance and Facilities staff at RIC and CCRI, as well as the Director of Labor Relations and the General Counsel at the Office.

Attorney Zayko confirmed that the non-discrimination policy and procedures encompasses all forms of prohibited harassment and discrimination, not just the sex discrimination that falls outside of the other policy, providing a uniform process for addressing all forms of discrimination.

Answering a question about response time, Attorney Zayko confirmed that the response time has been reduced while still allowing a reasonable period to respond. Additionally, she noted that, while each school is allowed to identify their own process to address student sexual issues, changes to the policy bring more consistency and uniformity to how these things will be approached under the new process than is in the existing process.

In response to Council inquiry, Acting Commissioner and General Counsel Cavallaro noted that the advisor and hearing officer must be trained to the extent that they can address cross examination and evidentiary matters. Schools must provide (and fund) those trained advisors.

Acting Commissioner Cavallaro advised the Council that this matter is on the agenda for notification and initial discussion purposes only. It will be on the agenda as an action item (for discussion and a vote) at the next Council meeting.

7. Action Items

A. Approval of the Awarding of Faculty Tenure at Rhode Island College.

President Sánchez noted that one faculty member’s name was inadvertently left off of the original tenure list considered and approved at the June 17, 2020 Council meeting.

President Sánchez noted that fee adjustments for the Fall 2020 semester include a reduced Athletics fee, Fine Arts fee, Dining fee, and Student Union fee. Chair DelGiudice noted that procedurally, the Council must approve any amendments to rates. As this was a time sensitive request made by RIC in between scheduled Council meetings, the Chair approved the adjustments prior to this meeting.

C. Approval/Ratification of an Amendment to the Memorandum of Agreement Creating a COVID-19 Incident Command System, regarding the Lease Agreement with the City of Central Falls for property at 934 Dexter Street, Central Falls, Rhode Island.
Chair DelGiudice noted that because this was a time sensitive issue, he signed the Memorandum of Agreement out of cycle.

Acting Commissioner Cavallaro stated that this amendment curtails the earlier amendment to the lease, whereby the lease was put on hold and a COVID-19 response center was set up at the location. As of August 1, the original lease resumed and the building returned to its intended purpose prior to COVID activity.

Chair DelGiudice called for a motion that the Council on Postsecondary Education ratify an amendment to the memorandum of agreement, creating a COVID-19 Incident Command System, regarding the lease agreement with the City of Central Falls for property at 934 Dexter Street in Central Falls, Rhode Island.
